

3 Steps to a restful Night Sleep

Is it time for a new mattress?

On average a mattress lasts between 7-10 years. If your mattress is starting to look worn, you are waking up stiff and sore or you are not sleeping as well as you did a year ago, it is probably time for a change.

Which mattress is right for you?

Type: Do you prefer soft, medium or firm support?

Price: Always shop for the best value not lowest price. The better the construction the better the support and comfort, the longer the mattress should last. Size: Having a larger bed should ensure that you and your partner do not disturb each other while sleeping.

What mattresses do Next sell?

Next offer an extensive range of mattresses at a variety of price points. Choose from our selection of pocket spring, with pillow top memory foam, energise or orthopaedic or open sprung with pillow top and specialist foam mattresses.

Comfort Level

2

MEDIUM

2. Medium

If you change positions while you sleep, from your side to your back, then a medium mattress may be your best option.

3

FIRM

3. Firm

If you prefer to sleep on your back or on your front, a firm mattress will give you just the right amount of support.

4

ORTHO-
PEAEDIC

4. Orthopaedic

Our firmest level of support. Lying on an orthopaedic mattress will help with aches and pains as it gives better support to the back and the whole body.
