DESCRIPTION

Camping can be great fun and a good way to get away from daily stresses and get closer to nature. However putting tents up in the rain is not everyone's idea of fun. If you're not aspiring to be Bear Grylls then this experience is a great alternative and could be seen more as glamping, the craze that's hitting the nation, than camping! Camping pods resemble wooden huts and have many advantages over most tents. For a start they are guaranteed to stay dry inside, you can even stand up and if you have kids this can make taking them away a much simpler operation!

If you're looking to take the family away for a short break or want to go away somewhere with your partner, camping pods are a perfect getaway.
